The Biafran Airlift was a privately organized effort to deliver food, medicine, and other supplies to the besieged Biafran people. The pilots who flew these missions risked their lives to bring aid to those in desperate need. They flew in rickety planes, often under fire, and they faced constant threats from enemy aircraft.

Despite the dangers, the pilots of the Biafran Airlift persevered. They flew over 2,000 missions, delivering over 60,000 tons of supplies to the Biafran people. Their efforts saved countless lives and helped to bring an end to the war.

Memoir of the Biafran Airlift is a gripping and inspiring account of this daring humanitarian mission. Written by the pilots who risked their lives to fly aid into the war-torn region, this memoir offers a unique perspective on this pivotal event in African history.

In their memoir, the pilots recall the challenges they faced, the risks they took, and the rewards they experienced. They share stories of their encounters with the Biafran people, of their friendships with fellow pilots, and of the struggles they faced after the war.

Memoir of the Biafran Airlift is more than just a historical account. It is a story of courage, humanitarianism, and the power of the human spirit. It is a story that will inspire readers of all ages.
