

Off To War: Voices of Soldiers' Children

A poignant and unforgettable collection of letters, poems, and artwork from the children of soldiers serving in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In Off to War, the children of soldiers share their hopes, dreams, and fears as their parents deploy to war. Through their touching words and artwork, we hear the voices of children who are coping with the absence of a parent, dealing with the stress of war, and searching for meaning in a world that has been turned upside down.

Off to War is a powerful reminder of the human cost of war. It is a book that will make you laugh, cry, and ultimately, appreciate the strength and resilience of the children who have been touched by war.

Here are just a few of the voices you will hear in Off to War:

- Sarah, age 10: "I miss my daddy so much. I wish he could come home soon. I know he's fighting for our freedom, but I just want him to be safe."
- Michael, age 12: "I'm proud of my mom for serving our country, but I'm also scared for her. I know there are bad people out there who want to hurt her."
- Emily, age 14: "My dad is a hero. He's risked his life to protect our country, and I'm so grateful for him. But I also worry about him every day."
- David, age 16: "War is a terrible thing. It tears families apart and destroys lives. I hope that one day there will be no more wars."

Off to War is a must-read for anyone who has been touched by war, or who wants to understand the experiences of the children of soldiers.
