This powerful and moving memoir tells the story of a young woman's journey from war-torn Somalia to the United States. It is a story of resilience, hope, and the power of the human spirit.

The author, Muna Hassan, was born in Somalia in 1986. Her childhood was marked by violence and war. In 1991, her family was forced to flee their home and become refugees. They spent the next several years living in a refugee camp in Kenya.

In 2003, Muna and her family were granted asylum in the United States. They settled in Minnesota, where Muna began to rebuild her life. She learned English, went to school, and eventually earned a college degree.

The Audacity of Resilience is Muna's story, but it is also the story of millions of other refugees around the world. It is a story of the challenges they face, the strength they possess, and the hope they hold for the future.

This book is a must-read for anyone who wants to understand the refugee experience. It is also a powerful reminder of the importance of compassion and empathy.
